

Me In A Bag

Why do we have such a hard time letting go of and getting rid of things? Humans tend to create bonds with pieces in our life that we feel represent moments or aspects of who we are.

You will choose 5 objects that are significant in your life and you feel represent you. You may only use one photograph, and you may only use one technological device. These objects can represent your likes, habits, hobbies, personality, or experiences. You will present an explanation of your 5 objects that includes: the name of the object, show it or a picture of it, and a few sentences explaining how this object represents you.

"ME in a Bag"

In this bag you will find,
Things that show I'm one of a kind.
Five items I really like,
My family, friends, a hobby, or even a bike.
So when I share these things with you,
You'll learn things you never knew!

HomeSpeechHome.com

Due: Monday, September 17 (Day 1), Tuesday, September 18 (Day 2)

Me In A Bag

	Not Yet Meeting Expectations	Meeting Expectations	Exceeding Expectations
Completion	Missing one or more objects.	Included 5 objects or images and explanations.	Included at least 5 objects, or images and explanations.
Self-Reflection/Presentation	The explanations of how each object represents you were not clearly presented. Presentation appeared unprepared/unrehearsed, connection not entirely clear. May have had a quiet voice/unclear voice, poor eye contact and/or closed body language.	The explanations of how each object represents you were thoughtful and drew a clear connection. Presentation appeared rehearsed and you were well prepared. Your voice was clear, made some eye contact and had open body language.	The explanations of how each object represents you are thoughtful and drew a clear connection. The explanations may have expanded on the connection between the object/image and you. Presentation appeared very well rehearsed and prepared. Very well presented with a clear voice, good eye contact and body language.